

Review of Five Different Astronomers' Personal Websites

Andy Lawrence

He is the Regius Professor of Astronomy at the University of Edinburgh. His website contains information about his research, publications, teaching, and his book titled 'Losing The Sky'.

Website: <https://andyxlastro.me>

Sofía Rojas Ruiz

A Colombian astronomer and postdoctoral researcher at UCLA. Her work focuses on galaxies, AGNs, and quasars during the epoch of reionization.

Website: <https://sofirojas.github.io>

Avi Loeb

A member of the Astronomy Department at Harvard University. His site includes both his research and media articles.

Website: <https://www.cfa.harvard.edu/~loeb/>

Catherine Heymans

A professor with the title of Astronomer Royal for Scotland. Her research is on weak gravitational lensing.

Website: <http://www.roe.ac.uk/~heymans>

Babak Amin Tafreshi

He leads the international project called 'The World At Night (TWAN)'. He specializes in astrophotography and night sky projects.

Website: <https://twanight.org>

Summary Table

Astronomer	Institution & Interests	Personal Website
Andy Lawrence	Quasars, sky pollution	andyxlastro.me
Sofía Rojas Ruiz	High-z galaxies & quasars	sofirojas.github.io

Astronomer	Institution & Interests	Personal Website
Avi Loeb	Research & commentary at Harvard	cfa.harvard.edu/~loeb
Catherine Heymans	Weak lensing, Astronomer Royal for Scotland	roe.ac.uk/~heymans
Babak Amin Tafreshi	TWAN - night sky projects	twanight.org